

BILL BY DAVID LLOYD-GEORGE HITS AT BOOZE

London, April 30.—Government bill designed to restrict sale and use of intoxicants was introduced in the house of commons yesterday by David Lloyd-George. In introducing the bill, Lloyd-George declared that excessive drinking among the employees of the various navy yards and those engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war was seriously affecting the output. The new bill doubles the tax on all spirits.

Lloyd George declared that the restriction of hours during which the public houses might sell liquor had proven inadequate but that complete prohibition at this time would be unjust to those who had money invested in the liquor industry.
